DECISION AND ORDER

Respondent Lily’s Green Garden, Inc. (Respondent) is a cannabis producer located in Santa Maria. On June 19, 2020, charging party Lisbeth Jimenez (Jimenez) filed a charge with the Agricultural Labor Relations Board (ALRB or Board) alleging Respondent retaliated against her and other agricultural employees for engaging in activity protected by the Agricultural Labor Relations Act (ALRA or Act).¹ Jimenez filed a second charge on August 3, 2020, alleging that Respondent retaliated against her for filing a charge with the ALRB.

On May 19, 2022, the General Counsel filed and served a consolidated complaint asserting three causes of action. The first cause of action alleges Respondent retaliated against Jimenez for complaining about her supervisor by giving her lower quality plants to trim and criticizing her in front of others, while the second cause of action alleges Jimenez's supervisor retaliated against her after she filed her first charge with the ALRB. The third cause of action alleges Jimenez's supervisor unlawfully interfered with and restrained employees in the exercise of their rights under the Act by telling them human resources would not do anything in response to their complaints about her. The complaint requests standard cease-and-desist and noticing remedies, as well as a mandatory training for Respondent's supervisors about workers' rights under the ALRA. The complaint also requests that Jimenez be made whole for any economic losses incurred due to Respondent's unlawful conduct.

Respondent failed to file a timely answer to the complaint, and on June 8, 2022, the General Counsel filed a motion for default judgment and to deem the complaint allegations true. Respondent opposed the motion, asserting its lead counsel was on vacation and his staff inadvertently calendared the answer as due 30 days after the complaint was filed. On July 14, 2022, the administrative law judge (ALJ) issued an order granting the General Counsel's motion. The ALJ's order includes the remedies requested in the complaint, except for making Jimenez whole for any economic losses resulting from Respondent's unlawful conduct.²

² Although the General Counsel's default motion again reiterates the General Counsel's request for backpay for Jimenez, the ALJ's order does not include any discussion of Jimenez's alleged economic losses.

The matter was transferred to the Board on July 14, 2022, pursuant to Board regulation 20280.³ The parties were given until August 4, 2022, to file exceptions to the ALJ's order. No exceptions were filed. However, on July 29, 2022, the General Counsel filed a motion for clarification regarding backpay owed to Jimenez pursuant to Board regulation 20240.⁴ On August 18, 2022, the Executive Secretary of the Board issued a notice to the parties that the ALJ's order was deemed final by virtue of no exceptions having been filed while requesting direction from the Board concerning the General Counsel's motion for clarification.⁵

Under the Board's regulations, when a party wishes to seek review of an ALJ decision which has been filed and transferred to the Board pursuant to regulations 20279 and 20280, the means by which to raise such issues to the Board is by the filing of exceptions pursuant to Board regulation 20282. Thus, the General Counsel's clarification motion is not procedurally proper. However, the Board has authority to address remedial issues even in the absence of exceptions.

Both ALRB and National Labor Relations Board (NLRB) precedent establish that matters of remedy are within the province of the Board and may be

⁴ Board regulation 20240 covers motions made before the prehearing conference and after the hearing in unfair labor practice proceedings.

The complaint in this matter includes allegations suggesting that Jimenez incurred economic harm as a result of Respondent’s unfair labor practices. The complaint alleges Jimenez is a cannabis trimmer paid on a piece-rate basis for each flower bud pruned, and that Respondent’s retaliatory actions against her included assigning her plants that were more difficult to prune or required more time than those she previously was assigned. In addition, Jimenez left work early one day after being harassed by Respondent.

Assuming Jimenez did incur a loss of pay as a result of Respondent’s unfair labor practices, any status quo ante remedy must include backpay in order to fully remediate the effects of the Respondent’s unlawful acts. “The task of the Board in devising a final remedy is ‘to take measures designed to recreate the conditions and relationships

This includes an affirmative order an employer make an employee whole for any economic losses suffered as a result of the employer’s unfair labor practices. (Lab. The complaint’s allegations, including those encompassing Jimenez’ potential economic losses, are deemed admitted by virtue of the default judgment entered against Respondent. Therefore, the Board hereby orders a backpay remedy to make Lisbeth Jimenez whole for all wages and economic losses she has suffered as a result of Respondent’s unlawful conduct.

ORDER

By the authority of section 1160.3 of the Act, the Agricultural Labor Relations Board (Board) hereby orders Respondent Lily’s Green Garden, Inc., its agents, officers, successors and assigns to do the following:

NOTICE TO AGRICULTURAL EMPLOYEES

After investigating a charge that was filed with the Oxnard Sub-Regional Office of the Agricultural Labor Relations Board (ALRB), the General Counsel of the ALRB issued a complaint alleging that we violated the law. Because we did not contest such charges by timely filing an answer to the complaint, the ALRB deemed the allegations to be true and found that we violated the Agricultural Labor Relations Act by (1) threatening and discriminating against an employee for complaining about the terms and conditions of her employment and for filing an unfair labor practice charge with the ALRB, and (2) interfering with and restraining employees in the free exercise of their protected rights. The ALRB has told us to publish this Notice. We will do what the ALRB has ordered us to do.

The Agricultural Labor Relations Act is a law that gives you and all other agricultural workers in California these rights:

1. To organize yourselves.
2. To form, join, or help a labor organization or bargaining representative.
3. To vote in a secret ballot election to decide whether you want a union to represent you.
4. To bargain with your employer about your wages and working conditions through a union chosen by a majority of the employees and certified by the ALRB.
5. To act together with other workers to help and protect one another.
6. To decide not to do any of these things.

Because you have these rights, we promise that:

WE WILL NOT threaten or retaliate against employees because they engage in protected concerted activities or file charges with the ALRB.

WE WILL NOT impose more difficult conditions of employment or tell our employees it is futile to engage in protected concerted activity because they engage in such activities or file charges with the ALRB.

WE WILL make whole Lisbeth Jimenez for all wages or other economic losses suffered as a result of our unlawful conduct.

CASE SUMMARY

LILY'S GREEN GARDEN, INC.

48 ALRB No. 3

(Lizbeth Jimenez)

Case Nos. 2020-CE-025-SAL
2020-CE-037-SAL

Background

The General Counsel filed and served a consolidated complaint alleging that Lily's Green Garden (Respondent) retaliated against the charging party and other workers after they complained about poor treatment by one of Respondent's supervisors. The complaint also alleged that Respondent retaliated against the charging party for filing a charge with the Agricultural Labor Relations Board (ALRB or Board). The complaint requested standard cease and desist and noticing remedies, and also requested that the charging party be made whole for any economic losses incurred due to Respondent's unlawful conduct.

The Respondent failed to file a timely answer to the complaint, and the General Counsel filed a motion for default judgment. The Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) issued an order granting the motion for default judgment and ordered the allegations in the complaint deemed admitted. The ALJ's order included the remedies requested in the complaint except for a backpay remedy.

Board Decision

After the matter was transferred to the Board, the General Counsel filed a motion seeking clarification as to whether the ALJ inadvertently omitted the backpay remedy. The Board stated that the correct procedure to request review of an ALJ decision is by the filing of exceptions pursuant to Board regulation 20282, thus the General Counsel's clarification motion was not procedurally proper. However, because the Board has the authority to address remedial issues even in the absence of exceptions, the Board considered the matter sua sponte.

The complaint included allegations suggesting that the charging party incurred economic harm as a result of Respondent's unfair labor practices. The Board concluded that any status quo ante remedy must include backpay in order to fully remediate the effects of the Respondent's unlawful acts. Therefore, the Board ordered that the charging party be made whole for all wages and economic losses she incurred.

This Case Summary is furnished for information only and is not an official statement of the case, or of the ALRB.

) FOR A DEFAULT JUDGMENT

1. Procedural History

On May 19, 2022, General Counsel filed its Consolidated Complaint in the above captioned case alleging Respondent violated section 1153(a) of the Agricultural Labor Relations Act (Act) by retaliating and discriminating against Lisbeth Jimenez (Jimenez) for engaging in protected-concerted activity. The Consolidated Complaint, together with portions of the Agricultural Labor Relations Board’s (Board) regulations, including section 20192 (Extensions of Time) and section 20230 (Time for Filing Answer) were served individually via certified and email on Respondent’s counsel Mark Paschowitz, Peter Goldenring and Kenneth Moss.

On June 8, 2022, General Counsel filed its Motion to Deem Allegations In The Consolidated Complaint Admitted And Motion For A Default Judgment.

1 On June 9, 2022, Respondent filed its Answer to Counsel for the General Counsel's
2 Consolidated Complaint.

4 On June 13, 2022, Respondent filed its Opposition to General Counsel's motions.

5 On June 14, 2022, I issued a Notice to Show Cause why General Counsel's Motions
6 should not be granted.

8 On June 24, 2022, General Counsel filed its Response to my Order to Show Cause.

10 2. The Parties' Positions

11 In its Motions General Counsel contends that Respondent's Answer herein was due under 12 Board regulation sections 20170 and 20230 on May 31, 2022. The record reflects that 13 Respondent has agreed to electronic service of documents by utilizing efilings on September 8, 14 2021, to submit Respondent's Opposition to the Board's Order to Show Cause. Thus,
15 Respondent's answer was untimely under Board's regulation 20230. General Counsel contends
16 that the Consolidated Complaint allegations should be deemed admitted under Board regulation 17 section 20232.

18
19 In its Opposition to General Counsel's motions, Respondent avers that its counsel, Mark
20 Paschowitz, left on a vacation on May 19, 2022. It is further declared that during Mr.
21 Paschowitz' absence his staff calendared an answer to General Counsel's Consolidated
22 Complaint for 30 days after May 19, 2022. Respondent contends that there has been no
23 prejudice to the Board or General Counsel in its late filing of an answer herein and that there is 24 good cause under California Code of Civil Procedure section 473(b) to grant relief from default.
25 Respondent essentially asserts that its staff made an excusable error in assuming Respondent's 26 answer was due in 30 days.

1 General Counsel counters that under CCP section 473(b), it is Respondent's burden of 2 establishing good cause for relief. Absent a showing of good cause for failure to file a timely
3 answer, it is appropriate to grant a motion to deem allegations of a complaint admitted.

5 3. The Analysis

6 There is no dispute that the Consolidated Complaint was served on Respondent's counsel
7 which satisfies the requirements of the Act for service. In addition, it is clear that Respondent
8 failed to file its answer in a timely manner under Board's regulation section 20230.

10 California Code of Civil Procedure section 473(b) provides that a court can upon terms 11 that may be just relieve a party or its representative from a judgement or order caused by their 12 mistake, inadvertence, or excusable neglect.

13 In addition, in the absence of good cause the issue of prejudice is irrelevant. Nor does a 14 mistake of law require relief from default. Allstar Seed Company (2003) 29 ALRB No. 2 page 5.
15 While a mistake of law may form the basis for good cause for relief, the Board has held to be 16 excusable the misconception must be reasonable and the lack of relying on the correct law is 17 justified. Allstar Seed Company, supra at 4. An excusable mistake of law does not necessarily 18 constitute excusable negligence. This is a question of fact. In this case did Respondent, its 19 three attorneys and legal staff have duty to inquire into the Board's procedural requirements for 20 filing an answer.
21

22 In the instant case, General Counsel served not one but three of Respondent's attorneys 23 with the Consolidated Complaint. General Counsel also served all of Respondent's counsel the 24 Board's regulations specifying that an answer was due 10 days after service of the complaint.
25 There is no evidence that anyone reviewed the regulations attached to the consolidated complaint
26 detailing that an answer was due in 10 not 30 days. Three attorneys were served with the 27
28

1 Consolidated Complaint. The absence of one attorney does not relieve the other two attorneys of 2 record from ascertaining the appropriate Board procedures. It is disingenuous to lay blame for 3 failing to research the correct law on non-attorney staff. Counsel's failure to read the 4 regulations attached to the Consolidated Complaint explicitly informing counsel of the due date
5 for Respondent's answer is not the action of a reasonable and prudent person. In Reveille Farms,
6 LLC (2019) 45 ALRB No. 6, page 3-4, in a case factually like this case, the Board found that
7 failure to file a timely answer due to ignorance and failure to ascertain the appropriate law is not 8 the act of a reasonable and prudent person and does not support a finding of good cause to 9 support relief from default.
10
11

12 That Respondent failed to act in a reasonably prudent manner by failing to file a timely
13 answer is affirmed by Respondent's previous failure to read Board regulations and failed to file a 14 timely petition to revoke subpoena in this case. The Board concluded that counsel failed act in a 15 reasonably prudent manner when they failed to determine when they were required to file a 16 petition to revoke subpoena under Board regulations. Their failure to timely file a petition to 17 revoke resulted in waiver of any objections to General Counsel's investigatory subpoena and the 18 Board's enforcement of the subpoena. Lily's Green Garden, Inc., Admin Order No. 2021-19, 19 page 7, October 26, 2021.
20
21

22 Respondent's argument that no one was prejudiced by its late filing of its answer, is 23 unavailing.
24

25 As the Board held in Reveille Farms, supra, page 8, where a Respondent has failed to 26 show good cause for its failure to abide by Board regulations, the issue of prejudice is moot and 27 need not be addressed.
28

1 Under Board's regulation section 20232 in the absence of an answer all allegations of a
2 complaint not denied are deemed admitted. Because Respondent failed to file a timely answer
3 and there is no good cause to excuse this failure, the allegations in the complaint are deemed
4 admitted. General Counsels' Motion to Deem the Complaint Allegations Admitted is granted
5 and its Motion for Default Judgment is likewise granted.

7 Having found the allegations of the complaint admitted, the following findings of fact 8 and conclusions of law are made:

- 11
12 p. On June 29, 2020, Becerra isolated Jimenez from other employees by removing her from 13 her normal work area and having Jimenez sit at a table with her back to employees.

14 5. Conclusions of law

16 termination because they had engaged in protected-concerted activity, Respondent
17 violated section 1153(a) of the Act by interfering with, restraining or coercing
18 employees in the exercise of their rights guaranteed in section 1152 of the Act.
- 19
20 b. On June 29, 2020, by threatening to terminate Jimenez and by isolating her from 21 other employees and in March 2020, by assigning her more difficult work, because 22 she engaged in protected-concerted activity, Respondent violated section 1153(a) of 23 the Act.
- 24
25 c. In March 2020, Respondent violated Section 1153(a) of the Act and interfered,
26 restrained and coerced employees in the exercise of their rights guaranteed in section
27 1152 of the Act, when Becerra told employees that their complaints had no effect,
28 and that HR would do nothing about their complaints.

1 d. Respondent violated Section 1153(d) of the Act in Becerra's retaliation against 2 Jimenez by threatening to terminate her, giving her more difficult working
3 conditions and isolating her for filing unfair labor practice charges under the Act.

NOTICE TO AGRICULTURAL EMPLOYEES

After investigating charges that were filed in the Salinas Regional Office of the Agricultural Labor Relations Board (ALRB), the General Counsel of the ALRB issued a complaint alleging that we had violated the law. Because we did not contest such charges by timely filing answer to the complaint, the ALRB deemed the allegations to be true and found that we violated the Agricultural Labor Relations Act (ALRA) by threatening and discriminating against an employee for complaining about the terms and conditions of her employment and for filing unfair labor practice charges.

The ALRB has told us to post and publish this Notice. We will do what the ALRB has ordered us to do.

We also want to inform you that the ALRA is a law that gives you and all other farm workers in California the following rights:

1. To organize yourselves;
2. To form, join or help a labor organization or bargaining representative;
3. To vote in a secret ballot election to decide whether you want a union to represent you;
4. To bargain with your employer about your wages and working conditions through a union chosen by a majority of the employees and certified by the ALRB;
5. To act together with other workers to help and protect one another;
6. To decide not to do any of these things.

Because it is true that you have these rights, we promise that;

WE WILL NOT threaten employees with discharge because they engage in protected-concerted activity or filed charges with the ALRB.

WE WILL NOT impose more difficult conditions of employment or tell our employees it is futile to engage in in protected-concerted activity because they engage in protected-concerted activity or file charges with the ALRB.
